VALENTINE'S DAY

Aside from you and your significant other there are some great love stories out there...some tragic, some happy. Can you match the couples with their stories? Submit your entries by return email to whirledpeasband@gmail.com. Prizes will be mailed to you so include your address.

A true love story made famous by Dante. Woman is married to an awful husband but has a great brother-in-law, who happens to be her lover. They read literature together. Alas they get killed by the awful husband who discovered them during one of their trysts. Who are they?

Married more than 50 years, the husband in this celebrated coupling is known to have said about his fidelity to his wife, "Why go out for a hamburger when you have steak at home? Who are they?"

He fell head over heels in love with this married woman that he kidnapped her. Her husband, justifiably angry, went to retrieve her and a war ensued. The husband killed the abductor, destroyed his country and took his wife back. They lived happily ever after. Who are they?

The guy fell deeply in love with this married nymph. A Greek god took a shine to the woman and actively pursued her, literally. She ran and ran and fell into a nest of snakes causing her fatality. The guy was so distraught he sang mournful songs that made all the nymphs and gods weep. He travelled to the underworld to beseech Hades to release his beloved. He did this through his songs. It was agreed that his lover could go free as long as the guy walk in front of her until they reached the upper world. The guy had little self control because he turned around to view her before they reached earth. She vanished, now forever. Who are they?

This Hollywood couple felt love at first sight. They have been together almost 30 years and have 3 children. He claims the secret to his successful marriage is: "Doing what my wife tells me and keeping my mouth shut." Who are they?
